Plant Care

Sunlight

The Croton Mammy thrives in bright, indirect light. Place it near a window with filtered sunlight for optimal growth.

Water

Water your Croton Mammy when the top inch of soil feels dry, ensuring that the soil remains evenly moist but not waterlogged.

Soil

Use a well-draining potting mix, which allows for proper air circulation and prevents root rot.

Repotting

Repot your Croton Mammy every 1-2 years, as it outgrows its current container, using a pot with drainage holes to avoid overwatering.

Common Problems and Remedies

Leaf drop

Caused by sudden changes in temperature or lighting conditions. Gradually acclimate your plant to its new environment.

Spider mites

These pests can cause leaf discoloration and curling. Combat them with insecticidal soap or neem oil.

Root rot

Overwatering can lead to root rot. Ensure proper drainage and avoid overwatering.
